Seascale Primary School receives support from Morgan Sindall Infrastructure

Seascale Primary School completed a painted mural with the help of Morgan Sindall Infrastructure. During a week of activities at the school, all of the pupils took part in painting the mural which is based on the theme of 'from fell to sea', reflecting the school's location in West Cumbria. The mural has been created on a 90 metre temporary wall which separates the existing primary school from the site where the new school is being built, which is due for completion in October 2019.

The paint and brushes were donated by Elliott (main contractor building the new school), and Morgan Sindall Infrastructure supported the school by preparing the temporary wall for painting and applying a base layer of paint. The company has also previously supported the primary school by supplying high visibility vests for the pupils to promote road safety in the village.

Dave Polkey, specialist operations director, Morgan Sindall Infrastructure said: "We are incredibly proud to be able to support local projects in West Cumbria. This was an exciting opportunity to use our skillset to help the pupils with their art work and it was very rewarding to see how happy the pupils and teachers are with their mural."

Mrs Spencer, Head Teacher of Seascale Primary School said: "We are extremely grateful that Morgan Sindall Infrastructure could support our school. They have helped us to brighten up our large expanse of wall while the new school is being built. It has made a real difference and our students have had an enjoyable and productive activity week painting their fantastic mural."
